

Rome, 25th July 2018

We're honored and happy to participate again this year at SANA, the organic international fair, now at its thirtieth edition. We'll be in Bologna from the 7th to the 10th of September 2018, with a stand dedicated to our protagonist: 'naBio, a beer made with organic malts and hops, according to the high standards that its processing require.

Low in alcohol, 'naBio is characterized by the adjunction of non-malted organic spelled to the traditional ingredients. It comes from the Umbrian mountains of Monteleone di Spoleto, in Perugia district. Dry, medium-bodie, fresh and refreshing, it's excellent as "aperitivo" and goes well with fried and delicate dishes in general.

For the occasion we will release 'naBio in 24 liters one way PoliKeg format, a new frame made of plastic and disposable. 'NaBio will also be available in two-format bottles: 0.33 and 0.75 cl.
